2. Code of Workplace Conduct

Our company is fundamentally committed to maintaining a professional, inclusive, and harassment-free workplace. We believe that diversity is our strength and that every individual deserves to be treated with dignity and respect.

We strictly prohibit any form of discrimination or harassment based on race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, or disability. This applies to all aspects of employment, including hiring, firing, promotions, and compensation.

Employees are expected to conduct themselves professionally at all times, both within the office premises and during any company-sponsored events or remote interactions. Profanity, abusive language, and physical altercations will not be tolerated under any circumstances.

If you witness or experience any behavior that violates this code of conduct, you are strongly encouraged to report it immediately to the Human Resources department. We maintain a strict anti-retaliation policy for all good-faith reports.

3. Attendance, Working Hours, and Leave

Consistent attendance and punctuality are vital to the smooth operation of our business and the success of our teams. Standard working hours are from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM in the employee's local time zone, Monday through Friday, unless otherwise specified by your manager.

We understand that unforeseen circumstances arise. If you are going to be late or absent due to illness or emergency, you must notify your direct supervisor as soon as reasonably possible, ideally before the start of your scheduled shift.

Our Paid Time Off (PTO) policy is designed to promote a healthy work-life balance. Employees accrue PTO based on their tenure and employment status. All planned PTO must be requested and approved by a manager at least two weeks in advance.

In addition to standard PTO, the company provides paid sick leave, bereavement leave, and parental leave in accordance with local and federal regulations. Detailed information regarding the accrual and usage of these leaves is available on the HR portal.

4. Remote Work and Telecommuting

Recognizing the modern landscape of work, our company embraces flexible remote work arrangements. Eligible employees may request to work remotely for part or all of their standard workweek, subject to managerial approval and job role requirements.

While working remotely, employees are expected to maintain the same level of productivity, responsiveness, and professional conduct as they would in a physical office setting. You must ensure you have a quiet, dedicated workspace and a reliable internet connection.

Core hours may be established by team leads to ensure overlap for meetings and collaborative work. Employees working in different time zones must coordinate with their teams to ensure seamless communication and project continuity.

The company provides necessary hardware, such as a laptop, for remote work. However, home office setup costs (e.g., desks, chairs, internet bills) are generally the responsibility of the employee unless explicitly stated in a separate telecommuting agreement.

5. Information Technology and Security

The security of our company data, intellectual property, and customer information is of paramount importance. All employees are issued company-owned devices which remain the property of the organization and are intended for business use only.

Employees must adhere to strict password management protocols, including the use of complex passwords, multi-factor authentication (MFA) on all corporate accounts, and regular password updates as prompted by the IT department.

The installation of unauthorized software, disabling of security protocols, or connecting unauthorized devices to the corporate network is strictly prohibited. Phishing and social engineering attacks are a constant threat; employees must remain vigilant and report any suspicious emails immediately.

When working in public spaces, employees must ensure their screens are not visible to unauthorized individuals and must use a secure VPN when accessing company resources over public Wi-Fi networks. Data breaches resulting from negligence may result in severe disciplinary action.

6. Disciplinary Procedures and Termination

The company utilizes a progressive disciplinary approach to address issues related to employee performance, conduct, or policy violations. Our goal is to correct issues and help employees succeed, rather than strictly to punish.

The progressive discipline process typically involves a verbal warning, followed by a written warning, suspension, and ultimately termination if the issue remains unresolved. However, the company reserves the right to skip steps depending on the severity of the offense.

Offenses categorized as 'Gross Misconduct'—such as theft, violence, severe harassment, or gross negligence resulting in significant financial loss or security breaches—will result in immediate termination without prior warning.

Upon termination of employment, whether voluntary or involuntary, employees must return all company property, including keys, access cards, laptops, and mobile devices, on or before their final day. Access to all company systems and physical premises will be immediately revoked.
